The fingle danced lay on the siding at Prairie Junction. 50,000 AMERICANS or some such place, to let the Santa go by. It was a gorgeous train of palace care, and benind the plate glass nervation windows nearty and fashton and youth and old age were lolling among the luxuriant cushions, some visiting, some reading, some pleasantly dozing, some making wreaths or cigar smoke, some gazing dreamily through the windows at the passing of cities, and fields, and forests and riv-

I thought of the slowly moving wagons, the dust, the stones, the jolting, the thirst, the like crossing of plains, the laborious climbing of mountains, the weary dragging weeks, the never ending trail

In these palaces that had just gilded by were people going to the same animals, hardly compensated for by place to spend the winter months their performances at the patl. "JOHNNY DRUMMER."

In visiting many herds and flocks have been most strongly impressed with the fact that there is no uni formity of type in them. Each man has all sorts of types and kinds in his herd or flock, says Professor G. E. Day, of Guelph. The result is that they breed up a flock or herd that will never be of any use in the country Each young breeder, and old one, too for that matter, must find out what is the right type; then set this up as un total and work to it. You cannot reach your ideal at once. It may take ten, fifteen, twenty or even forty years to do so, and perhaps you may never reach it, but keep it ever before you, never lose night of it for an instant, nor let anything else drive it away. You will find that the man nese graves, almost all of them being who makes a success of breeding is he who sticks to his ideal with, as it were, a bull dog tenacity, and though he may not become famous, he will at least make a name for himself in his sphere of life. I would emphasize the importance of getting the right type fixed in one's mind as an ideal. There is a type of hog that gives the best bacon, and if the production of bacon hogs is the ideal a man has set up for himself, then he should get as near to the ideal type as is all that he says it is, possible. Some breads of hogs commuch nearer that type than others In judging of the length of a hog it is not enough that he should be long from the nose to the tail, but it is of special importance that he should be long between shoulder and ham. have heard some people say that it costs more to produce the bacon type of hog than the fat kind. I want to give you this for your encouragement -it has never been proved that it does cost more. Our experiments show very conclusively that it does not nec essarily cost more to produce a pound of gain in a good bacon hog than in a fat hog, and that a good bacon hog is an economical producer.

The Mare and the Foal.

Mares after being bred should not e worked for a few days, after which they may be worked right up to the day they foal, providing you have the right kind of work for them to do, writes John Gardhouse. They should not be hitched to any very heavy loads, or on to a tongue that will strike them in the side, and they should not be backed when heavy with foal. After fall plowing is done and you have no further work for them, do not tie them in the stable and let them stand without any exercise: e... in the yard for exercise every afternoon, unless very stormy. A few weeks before foaling, feed a little flaxseed along with boiled oats and Never allow the foal to run after the mare when working. Al-ways keep it in a loose box, well bedded, and with plenty of light, but no holes which it can get its head through. Always give the foal a little feed when you take the mare out. Unless you are working a long distance from the barn, it will pay to take the mare in during the forenoon and afternoon, giving her a drink and a handful of oats, and let the foal portrait of Dr. Parker. suck, thus helping the mare and also the foal. When the foal is weaned, feed it often with good clover hay, chopped oats and bran, and all the milk it will take. Wister well the first winter. Many foals are allowed to winter around straw stacks and on poor, dry feed, and are very little heavier in the spring than when weaned in the fall.

Swiss Dairy Cattle.

All these hunger, the homesickness, the snail Swiss cattle are exceedingly coarse boned, large framed and heavy. They are exceedingly active for their size famous mountain climbers, but carry a great superfluity of flesh for dairy some preferred for milch stock, but unbiased judges generally give the Brown Swiss first place for dairy purposes. In America the last-named made famous records in milk and but ter production; but, as a whole, all Swiss cattle must be here regarded as of the "dual-purpose" kind, and illitering dining car, where every this means that they are not expected lainty that ever tickled the palate is to add much to the value of our dairy

Try Same Roots.

Many farmers are feeding some roots to their poultry in winter, About everything in this line has been tried and most things with success. Beets are split and the fowls are allowed to pick at them at their leisure. Carrots are equally serviceable, and the fowls seem to like them better than they do beets. ## DMIRAL SCHLEY ENDORSES PE-RU-NA.

Pe-ru-na Drug Co., Columbus, Ohio: Gentlemen: "I can cheerfully say that Mrs. Schley has taken Pe-ru-na and I believe with good effect." W. S. SCHLEY .- Washington, D. C.

A DMIRAL SCHLEY, one of the foremost | notable heroes of the Nineteenth Century. A name that starts terror in the heart of every Spaniard. A man of steady nerve, clear head, undaunted courage and prompt decision.

Approached by a friend recently, his opinion was asked as to the efficacy of Peruna, the national catarrh remedy. Without the slightest hesitation he gave this remedy his endorsement. It appeared on later conversation that Peruna has been used in his family, where it is a favorite remedy.

Such endorsements serve to indicate the wonderful hold that Peruna has upon the minds of the American people. It is out of the question that so great and famous a man as Admiral Schley could have any other reason for giving his endorsement to Peruna than his positive conviction that the remedy opposition and has won its way to the hearts of the people. The natural timidity which so many people have felt about giving endorsements to any remedy is giving way. Gratitude and a desire to help others has inspired thousands of people to give public testimonials for Peruna who heretofore would not have consented to such publicity.

The fact is that Peruna has overcome all | lumbus, Ohio, for free literature on catarrh-

Never before in the annals of medicine has it happened that so many men of national and international reputation have been willing to give unqualified and public endorsements to a proprietary remedy. No amount of advertising could have accomplished such a result. Peruna has won on its own merits. Peruna cures catarrh of whatever phase or location in the human body.
